

<http://www.kqed.org/epArchive/R201001121557>

BioTech Upbeat for 2010

Tuesday, January 12, 2010

BioTech leaders are optimistic about the coming year according to a new report from a Bay Area industry association. Bay-Bio, based in South San Francisco, says California's life sciences industry grew in 2009. One challenge looking forward is access to capital. In the near term, start-ups have been financing their work through partnerships with big pharmaceutical companies.

Listen here