

http://sanfrancisco.bizjournals.com/sanfrancisco/blog/2010/05/what_does_biotech_and_california_mean.html?surround=lfm#ixzz0mzy9Oc2T

BLOG: Bay Area BizTalk

WHAT DOES 'BIOTECH' AND 'CALIFORNIA' MEAN

Monday, May 3, 2010, 9:23pm PDT

The first day of the BIO conference — with 13,000 attendees from throughout the world — got us thinking: What comes to mind when you hear "biotech" and "California"?

So between panels, sessions and one-on-one meetings, we asked that question to BIO attendees from Bangalore to South San Francisco.

Watch the flip video here

Thanks to, in order of appearance:

- Matthew Summy, president and CEO, Illinois Science & Technology Coalition (Chicago);
- John Graham, CEO, Invida Group Pte Ltd. (Singapore);
- Glen Giovannetti, global biotechnology leader, global life sciences center, Ernst & Young (Boston);
- Maninder Singh Sagoo, solicitor, life sciences, Osborne Clarke (Reading, U.K.);
- Gail Maderis, president, BayBio (South San Francisco);
- Mitch Horowitz, managing director, technology partnership practice, Battelle (Bethesda, Md.); and
- Sajai Singh, partner, J. Sagar Associates (Bangalore, India).

Read more: sanfrancisco.bizjournals.com