

http://www.bizjournals.com/sanfrancisco/blog/2010/06/qb3_baybio_host_panel_tours.html

Blog: BAY AREA BIZTALK

Ron Leuty

Reporter

BayBio and QB3 are planning a star-packed event, including tours of UCSF's Mission Bay facilities, on Tuesday.

Susan Desmond-Hellmann, chancellor of the University of California, San Francisco; Brook Byers, a partner with Kleiner Perkins Caufield & Byers; Regis Kelly, director of the California Institute for Quantitative Biosciences (QB3); and Uwe Schoenbeck, Pfizer Inc.'s chief science officer, biotherapeutics, external R&D innovation will be part of a panel looking at how universities, venture capital and corporations can improve translational medicine.

The event is 3-7 p.m. Tuesday, June 29, at Genentech Hall. (Tours and poster sessions are 3-5 p.m. and the panel discussion will be 5-6 p.m.) There is a cost of $40 for BayBio members; $75 for nonmembers.

That is just one of several upcoming events on the BayBio calendar of Bay Area biotech happenings.

Read more: QB3, BayBio host panel, tours - San Francisco Business Times